Sacred Waters Mission Statement

Our mission is to protect and support the health of waters, and the ecosystems that they feed, through conservation, advocacy, rehab, and education.

Conservation - We will protect all waters, which means working with public land management agencies and private landowners alike. Our protection and maintenance efforts in a small fish habitat bring prosperity beyond the immediate area. Improvements to fisheries and river habitats, no matter how small and regardless of whether publicly or privately owned benefit the entire river.

Advocacy - The word 'advocacy' takes its roots from the Latin 'ad vocare' meaning to speak for someone. Nature's beauty speaks to those who visit her, but our rivers and fish can't represent themselves in the political arena. This is where we will help. Years of combined guide experience has taught us a thing or two about how to be an advocate for our rivers and fish. Contrary to what a lot of us have been taught, what's best for our rivers and fisheries is also best for fishermen, landowners, and fishing guides. How does this theory become action? Our services protect private waters and tread lightly.

Rehab - One of our all-time favorite ways to give back is through supporting our United States Veterans! The therapeutic benefits of fishing should be enjoyed by everyone. We offer tailored guide services for these Veterans who need a little assistance to experience fishing our waters. For this reason, we support Pagosa Vets for Vets and Project Healing Waters locally and want to give back to support Veterans that have already given so much.

Education - Education is our passport to the future. Tomorrow belongs to the people who prepare for it today. We are of the mindset that when people, regardless of age, better understand our fisheries that they'll naturally be drawn to learn more about good river stewardship. These educated individuals will take actions to protect and improve what we have been given. We provide public and private educational events such as clinics and seminars in our community and online. The result is a growing group of individuals who take what they have learned and apply it in both their sporting and personal lives. These educational roots take hold and are shared with others who utilize the waters and surrounding lands with a caring and gentle spirit.
